9. NAAC Awareness programme:— There is a series of regular discussion in the department about how to make students aware of new NAAC procedure on the following —

i) NAAC is a continuous Process and a relentless pursuit to achieve academic excellence. It is an on going dynamic and life long endeavour of any institution. As the primary goal of institutional accreditation by NAAC is to provide the information needed to improve the experience of the learning communities. It is envisaged that NAAC plays a large internalising and institutionalising quality assurance. Towards achieving this goal, while the participation of all stakeholders is essential, the involvement of student participation in the institutional quality enhancement processes.

ii) Its aim is to make quality the defining element of higher education through a combination of self and external quality evaluation, promotion and sustenance initiatives.

iii) NAAC accreditation identifies the quality of the institute in terms of its education, research, faculty, infrastructure etc. as well as giving students confidence that they are selecting a quality institution. It gives an institute instant credibility and increases its admissions.

10. Student satisfactory survey :— It is to be noted that the students who participated had strong and varied personal views regarding their understanding. From the various responses gathered, it is apparent that the students are quite capable of analysing situations and understand quality as a defining concept, related to the continuous improvement of any given situations.

11. Analysis of each semester result :-After the introduction of B.Com CBCS system, we have been analysing each semester results i.e from B.Com 1st semester to B.Com Vth semester. From B.Com 1st semester to B.Com Vth semester the results of the students were satisfactory. Those student who were secured poor marks, they were given special care by remedial classes. The VI semester results could not analysed as the results yet to be declared.

9. NAAC Awareness programme:— There is a series of regular discussion in the department about how to make students aware of new NAAC procedure on the following —

i) NAAC is a continuous Process and a relentless pursuit to achieve academic excellence. It is an on going dynamic and life long endeavour of any institution. As the primary goal of institutional accreditation by NAAC is to provide the Information needed to improve the experience of the learning communities. It is envisaged that NAAC plays a large internalising and institutionalising quality assurance. Towards achieving this goal, while the participation of all stakeholders is essential, the involvement of student participation in the institutional quality enhancement processes.

ii) Its aim is to make quality the defining element of higher education through a combination of self and external quality evaluation, promotion and sustenance initiatives.

iii) NAAC accreditation identifies the quality of the institute in terms of its education, research, faculty, infrastructure etc. as well as giving students confidence that they are selecting a quality institution. It gives an institute instant credibility and increases its admissions.

10. Student satisfactory survey :— It is to be noted that the students who participated had strong and varied personal views regarding their understanding. From the various responses gathered, it is apparent that the students are quite capable of analysing situations and understand quality as a defining concept, related to the continuous improvement of any given situations.

11. Analysis of each semester result :- After the introduction of B.Com CBCS system, we have been analysing each semester results i.e from B.Com 1st semester to B.Com Vth semester. From B.Com 1st semester to B.Com Vth semester the results of the students were satisfactory. Those student who were secured poor marks, they were given special care by remedial classes. The VI semester results could not be analysed as the results yet to be declared.
